

TEXAS SWEPT BY BIG STORM

Reports From Dallas Show That There Was Heavy Loss Of Life Near That City.

WHOLE VILLAGES WERE INUNDATED

Oklahoma Towns Flooded By Rains-Train Service Almost Abandoned-Natural Gas Supply Is Cut Off-Thousands Of Acres Of Crops Ruined.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Dallas, Tex., May 25.—One man was drowned, fifty families marooned in the flooded section of the city, and much property damaged as a result of a flood which followed the sudden rise of the Trinity river early today. A section of the Texas & Pacific railway bridge has gone down and fifteen men were thrown into the river, six of whom were drowned. At 2 o'clock the Trinity river had reached a stage of 51.3 feet, the highest ever known. The situation grows worse every hour. It is estimated that two thousand persons are homeless in Dallas.

Other Losses

Fort Worth, Tex., May 25.—Seven people are known to be dead, 5,000 are homeless, a dozen or more are reported to have been killed in Fort Worth and North Fort Worth, as a result of the greatest rise in the history of the Trinity river, which, beginning at 7:30 Saturday evening, reached a climax at five o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Following the torrential rains of Saturday and Sunday the river went three inches above the record-breaking flood of 1889. Stock valued at many thousands of dollars, including 2,500 sheep penned up in the stock yards in North Fort Worth, was washed down stream and destroyed. The property loss cannot be estimated as yet.

Entire State Storm-Swept.

Austin, Tex., May 25.—A terrific wind and rain storm that at times developed into a tornado swept Texas from the Panhandle to the Gulf early Sunday. The destruction to crops, trees and shrubbery was the greatest reported in years.

In numerous places houses were unroofed and small villages and hamlets in many instances were inundated by the terrific rainfall which, in the space of four hours, reached seven inches in many sections. Austin was in the path of the worst of the storm and for hours the streets were impassable. Electric light and telephone connections were disabled and many houses were unroofed.

Great Rainstorms in Oklahoma.

Muskogee, Okla., May 25.—Not a railroad in Oklahoma is in operation as a result of the heavy rains and cloudbursts that have occurred in various parts of the state during the past three days. The last road to attempt operation was the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, which was forced to quit at noon Sunday when the bridge on the main line at Enfield went down.

To add to the disaster, the main supplying natural gas to the Indian Territory part of the state was carried away with the Clarksville bridge and the supply of gas for Muskogee and several other cities in the southeast part of the state has been entirely cut off. Officials of the gas company say it will be a week before repairs can be made so that the gas supply can again be carried. As natural gas is used for light and heat, business will be suspended in a measure. Elevators have been forced to stop running and hotels and restaurants have practically been put out of business.

West Guthrie Flooded.

Guthrie, Okla., May 25.—All West Guthrie is inundated, with from seven to ten feet of water rushing through the streets. The Cottonwood river is 25 miles wide in places and is still rising. Not a train arrived in Guthrie Sunday.

Other Places Under Water. Tulsa, Okla., May 25.—As a result of an almost incessant downpour of rain in Oklahoma for the past three days, the Arkansas river has risen 13 feet and is still steadily rising. At six o'clock Sunday night the river had reached the highest point in 14 years. Parts of West Tulsa and Jenks, 13 miles south of here, are inundated and the inhabitants are moving from their homes.

The water has reached the surface of the wagon bridge across the Arkansas river at this place and all travel over the structure has been stopped. The river is full of debris, including wrecks of bridges from tributary streams, which have been washed out by the floods. It is impossible to estimate the damage done in the outlying country as telephone and telegraph service is crippled. It is known, however, that in the lowlands crops are practically ruined and much livestock has been drowned. A considerable area has been devastated. So far no loss of human life has been reported.

Train service on the St. Louis & San Francisco and Midland Valley railroads is delayed by washouts. The Missouri, Kansas & Texas is not running trains south of Owsage Junction on the Oklahoma City and Pueblo division.

JUDGE SAYS THAW IS INSANE; SHOULD NOT BE MADE FREE

Noted Prisoner Now Fighting to Be Sent to Some Other Asylum Than Mattewan.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 25.—Judge Morschhausen of the supreme court today decided Harry K. Thaw is now insane and should not be allowed to leave. Judge Morschhausen, however, refused Thaw's application to be given his freedom at this time. The justice declared the commitment to the asylum by Justice Howland at Thaw's last trial was entirely legal. Thaw's lawyers will today apply to the court for permission to place Thaw in some other institution than Mattewan.

GENERAL M'KENZIE RETIRED FOR AGE

Chief of Engineers of the United States Army Placed on Retired List.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., May 25.—Bilgode General Alexander McKenzie, chief of engineers of the United States army, was placed on the retired list today on account of age. General McKenzie is a native of Wisconsin and graduated from the Military Academy in 1861. He took part in some of the closing engagements of the Civil war, and after the end of that conflict was assigned to the engineering corps and in later years has seen service in many parts of the country. He has been chief of engineers since 1901 and in that position has been charged with the disbursement of the many millions of dollars appropriated for river and harbor improvements. For many years these expenditures have averaged $50,000,000 and in some recent years have risen as high as $80,000,000. It is an interesting fact that in spite of the enormous amount of money that has been paid out under the supervision of the engineer officers of the army, only one scandal has occurred in this department of the public service since the foundation of the republic. That one was the notorious Carter case. Captain Carter was convicted by court martial, dismissed from the army and sentenced to a term of imprisonment at Leavenworth, while Greene and Gaynor, the millimetre contractors who are alleged to have profited by his frauds, are now confined in the federal prison at Atlanta.

CORONER'S INQUEST HEARS WITNESSES

Believed That Jury Will Bring in a Verdict of Suicide Late This Afternoon.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Wis., May 25.—A Journal special from Hortonville, Wis., says the coroner's jury impeached to investigate the mysterious death of Mrs. Charles Shaw, whose body was found in the mill pond at Hortonville on Wednesday last, heard several witnesses today, but nothing definite developed up to noon. It is generally believed that when the jury brings in its verdict late this afternoon, or early tomorrow morning, that it will be a verdict of suicide. It is said Mrs. Shaw was subject to epileptic fits and that during one of these spells she fell on a stove and was burned. She also broke a bath while overcome when she was roller skating on April 10th.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR GATHER IN ERIE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Erie, Pa., May 25.—Erie is today the Mecca of hundreds of the most prominent citizens of the Keystone state. From every part of the commonwealth, from Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Reading, Scranton and scores of other cities, the representatives of the Knights Templar are gathering for the fifty-fifth annual conclave of the Grand Commandery.

For nearly a year the local committee of reception and entertainment has been preparing for the distinguished hosts that will convene in this city during the next three days, and even this early the hundreds of strangers are ready to admit that the work has been well done.

In the matter of decoration, it might be said that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed as is Erie today. The business section of the city is one mass of flags and bunting and banners, in which the knights on horseback and other emblems of the Templars play a conspicuous part. The decorations of the public buildings, club houses and hotels are especially profuse.

Today was devoted to the reception of the arriving visitors and their enshroining at quarters. Band concerts and several public receptions in honor of the visiting commanderies are on the program for this evening. The grand annual parade and review is slated for tomorrow morning and late in the afternoon the Grand Commandery will hold its first session.

There will be automobile trips and boat rides for the visiting ladies and knights. The new officers may be elected a grand reception and banquet at night. The new officers will be elected and installed at the Wednesday sessions.

N. CAROLINA MAY JOIN DRYS SOON

Prohibition Election Tomorrow Follows Spirited Campaign on Question.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Charlotte, N. C., May 25.—Whether North Carolina will join the ranks of "dry" states, which now include Maine, Georgia, Oklahoma, Kansas and North Dakota, will be determined by the prohibition election that is being held throughout the state tomorrow. The election follows a spirited campaign that has been in progress ever since the legislature decided upon the election last winter. In certain localities the fight has been most intense. Governor Glenn and other leading men of the state have been speaking continuously in behalf of the prohibition movement.

The prohibition forces are today confident of victory, notwithstanding the fact that an adverse vote is expected from some of the larger cities and towns.

TRIAL BEGINS TODAY OF WASHINGTON MAN

Gaston P. Philip Must Answer to Indictment for Murder in First Degree.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., May 25.—Gaston P. Philip, a wealthy young clubman of New York and Washington, was today placed on trial before Judge Justice Barnard in Criminal Court No. 2, to answer an indictment for first degree murder. Philip is alleged to have been shot to death by Frank Macnab, a local cab driver, in the Arlington hotel a year ago. The alleged crime occurred during the early hours of the morning. During the previous night Philip is said to have been out "seeing the town" under the pretense of the cab driver. Both men are said to have been badly under the influence of liquor when they returned to the hotel. A dispute occurred and the shooting of Macnab followed. Philip has been at liberty since last July, on a bond of $25,000, furnished by his brother and others, and has been residing at Cloverneck, N. Y. His attorneys intend to interpose a plea of self-defense to the allegations of the indictment. They expect to prove that Macnab had threatened Mr. Philip and when he followed the clubman to his room in the hotel the latter was apprehensive that the threats would be executed and shot to save himself.

MYSTERIOUS FRIEND AIDS MAE WOOD TO HER FREEDOM

Woman Who Is "Boss" Platt's Nemesis Released From Tombs This Morning.

New York, May 25.—The well laid plans of her mysterious friends did not fail and Mae C. Wood, the Nemesis of Senator Thomas C. Platt, was today released from the Tombs and permitted to breathe the bonded air until she shall be brought to trial on the charge of perjury growing out of her ill-starred suit for divorce from Senator Platt. That much was foreshadowed yesterday by the statement of Richard Deming, manager for the American Surety company, a bonding concern. But the mystery of the identity to the bonding company is still as deep as ever. Mr. Deming declared that the only man he knew in the negotiations for the $5,000 bail money was Joseph Day Lee, Mae Wood's attorney.

SECOND TRIAL OF ACK HALE BEGINS

Is Charged with Having Murdered Eighteen-year-old Tennessee Girl.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Bristol, Tenn., May 25.—The second trial of Ack Hale, who is charged with having criminally assaulted and murdered Lillie Davis, a pretty Bristol girl, eighteen years old, in East Hill cemetery here, March 27, 1907, is declared to begin in the district court at Knoxville this week. The first trial was held last September. The jury is said to have stood eight for hanging, three for a penitentiary sentence and one for acquittal.

No other criminal case of recent years has attracted so much attention throughout this section of the country as has that of Ack Hale. On the night of the alleged murder Lillie Davis was found lying in East Hill cemetery with a bullet wound in her breast. She never regained consciousness to tell the story of the tragedy.

Ack Hale, twenty-five years old, who had spent the day with Miss Davis, was arrested on the scene of the tragedy. He insisted that the girl had shot herself after repeated denials that she was going to end her life. No one was disposed to believe the young man's story and he was locked up while the search for evidence and motives proceeded.

The physicians who conducted the post-mortem investigation discovered, as they afterward testified, unmistakable evidence that the girl had been criminally assaulted preceding the shot which ended her life. This was not the only motive for ending the girl's life. Lillie Davis was the only eye witness to the killing of her brother, Leby Davis, who was shot to death. It is alleged, by Roy Hale, a younger brother of Ack Hale, a few months before her own death. Upon her evidence might have depended the fate of Roy Hale, and from this standpoint her removal may have been looked upon as one of the essentials to the safety of Roy Hale.

Ack Hale, too, was about to leave for the west, and had purchased a ticket for Colorado. He came here before starting on his intended journey, apparently for no other purpose than to meet the Davis girl. So far as is known, Lillie Davis had no motive for taking her own life. She was to have become the bride of John E. McRoberts of Wise county, Va., only a few days later than the date of her death. All arrangements had been made for the wedding, and the girl talked to her neighbors and friends with much interest of the time when she was to become a bride.

Edgerton, May 25.—Martin Deag, a lineman for the Independent Telephone company, fell from the top of a pole he was working on this afternoon, striking on the cross wires of the electric company which were heavily charged with electricity. Had it not been for a companion, William Harris, who was working on the same pole, pushing him off to the ground he would have been killed. As it was he was badly injured and unconscious for some time.

PLACED ON TRIAL FOR WIFE MURDER

Jersey Meadows Murder Mystery May Be Solved by Trial of Whittemore.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Jersey City, N. J., May 25.—Theodore H. Whittemore was placed on trial before Judge Blair here today on the charge of wife murder. This was the case known as the Harrison marsh mystery, which for a time excited the attention of the entire country and baffled the efforts of the authorities to unravel it. On the day after Christmas of last year the body of Mrs. Whittemore, who was a woman of prepossessing appearance, was found half submerged in a deserted locality in the marshy meadows in the vicinity of the town of Harrison. For nearly a week the body remained unidentified. Finally it was recognized by a sister of Mrs. Whittemore and a day or two later the husband of the dead woman was taken into custody.

Whittemore had been a "motorman" on the elevated railway in New York, but for some time had been without steady employment. He had come to New York from Albany, where he is said to have been implicated some years previously in a hold-up case. His wife kept a roominghouse in Brooklyn and it is said that jealousy on both sides had created considerable trouble in the family. Several times the pair had separated, only to come together again. They are said to have had a violent quarrel a day or two before the alleged murder and Mrs. Whittemore had again made preparations to leave her family. Her trunk had been shipped to the home of a sister up the state, but whether by the woman herself or by her husband has not been proven.

It is the contention of the authorities that Whittemore, after killing his wife, had packed and shipped her trunk and also written in her name a letter to the dead woman's sister, telling her she had left her husband. The evidence at the inquest seemed to indicate that life had not been exact when the body was placed in the marsh. How the murderer had succeeded in luring the woman to so desolate a spot, many miles from her home, has not been satisfactorily explained. Since his arrest Whittemore has steadfastly maintained his innocence of the charge against him.

ON TRIAL FOR WIFE MURDER.

Case Against T. S. Whitmore is Begun at Newark, N. J.

New York, May 25.—Five months ago, on Christmas night, in a desolate swamp at Harrison, N. J., Helena Whitmore was murdered, her body stripped of clothing, and thrown into a foul pond, where it was found the following day. Monday Theodore S. Whitmore, husband of the murdered woman, was placed on trial at Newark, N. J., charged with the crime.

A chain of circumstantial evidence has been forged against Whitmore, it is alleged by Prosecutor Pierre Garven, but Whitmore's attorney says he expects to be able to prove an alibi for the accused man and is confident that he will be acquitted.

Janesville Tollytollers played ball Sunday. Not only did they play ball, but they did it well. It took three of Harvard's pitchers all they could do to keep them from scoring so many times that the man with the knife and notch of stick would have had to get a new piece of wood every four or five times. As it was, they crossed the plate eleven times while Harvard never got a man over.

No Jonah. The seventh inning did not prove their undoing this time. Manley, the new pitcher, paid his compliments to the Illinois fellows in an excellent style. Every Janesville player got a run, some of them two. It was a game the home fans like to witness. A game that puts the players on their mettle for future conquests. The defeat of Sunday, a week ago, was just enough to end all ideas that they were invincible and was a good thing for the local men. Yesterday they came out in style and credit is deserving each individual. One error is recorded against them while Harvard had none. The lineup was:

Beloit on its game from Rockford by a score of 2 to 0 which places it tied with Janesville at the head of the list, Rockford and Harvard being tied for second place.

The Red Sox.
The demon of misfortune followed the Red Sox in their Saturday and Sunday games. In the Saturday game with Footville they lost a hard fought battle that took fourteen innings to decide. It is claimed the umpire had something to do with the defeat as he called Hall out on a spectacular slide for home in the thirteenth when he was safe by several feet.

The Second Defeat.
On Sunday they went down in defeat a second time with Oregon winning by a score of 5 to 3. However, here this can be accounted for by the fact the diamond was not of the best, being a plowed field that caused the locals much worry. Next Saturday they play Woodstock here.

White Sox Lost.
At the Fair Grounds the Beloit Beavers did up the local White Sox in a slugging match Sunday. Janesville lost on errors and Beloit won on fielding. The final score when the dust cleared away was, Beavers 14, White Sox 11. Next Sunday the White Sox play the Beloit Pirates at Yost's park.

MATTHEW ARNOLD AT PRINCETON

Dr. McCosh Was Determined to Impress Visitor Favorably.

When Matthew Arnold visited Princeton, on his lecturing tour, President McCosh particularly desired to have him attend morning chapel and see how an undergraduate's day began. Accordingly, he hailed Mr. Arnold to chapel the next morning. Unfortunately, however, he had not considered what member of the faculty was scheduled to preside at the exercises, and, as it happened, the officiating professor that morning was the very last one likely to make a pleasing impression on a critical visitor. Dr. McCosh, as usual, rose to the occasion. Thrusting Mr. Arnold into a pew with the remark: "You'll all there!" he strode down the aisle and up to the pulpit where the professor was nervously waiting. Then in a reverberating stage whisper heard all over the chapel the good doctor said, with unmistakable emphasis: "We have Mr. Arnold here this morning! You'll pick a lively hymn—and pray short!" And he strode back, totally unconscious of the discomfiture of his colleagues and the gloom of the undergraduates. Mr. Arnold's face was expressionless.

MATTHEW ARNOLD AT PRINCETON

Dr. McCosh Was Determined to Impress Visitor Favorably.

When Matthew Arnold visited Princeton, on his lecturing tour, President McCosh particularly desired to have him attend morning chapel and see how an undergraduate's day began. Accordingly, he hailed Mr. Arnold to chapel the next morning. Unfortunately, however, he had not considered what member of the faculty was scheduled to preside at the exercises, and, as it happened, the officiating professor that morning was the very last one likely to make a pleasing impression on a critical visitor. Dr. McCosh, as usual, rose to the occasion. Thrusting Mr. Arnold into a pew with the remark: "You'll all there!" he strode down the aisle and up to the pulpit where the professor was nervously waiting. Then in a reverberating stage whisper heard all over the chapel the good doctor said, with unmistakable emphasis: "We have Mr. Arnold here this morning! You'll pick a lively hymn—and pray short!" And he strode back, totally unconscious of the discomfiture of his colleagues and the gloom of the undergraduates. Mr. Arnold's face was expressionless.

SHOW CONFIDENCE IN THEIR PASTOR

DR. GOODSELL'S CONGREGATION REPRESENTS THE ATTACKS.

CHURCH BOARD WITH HIM

Three Other Candidates for Methodist Episcopacy Have Been Injured by Foolish or False Stories.

New York, May 25.—Rev. Dr. Charles L. Goodsell, pastor of Calvary Methodist church, whose candidacy for bishop at the Baltimore Methodist general conference was affected when reports were spread that he had figured in divorce proceedings nearly a quarter of a century ago, was the recipient of remarkable demonstrations of affection and esteem by the members of his congregation Sunday.

Over a thousand members of his congregation, after the morning service, filed one by one down by the communion rail to shake the hand of their pastor and assure him that he held their entire confidence. At the conclusion of the evening service the scene of the morning was repeated. Dr. Goodsell shortened the morning reception in order that he might attend a special meeting of the official board of the church. Uniting their voices in an executive session, the 30 or more members of the board lauded Dr. Goodsell in the highest measure. There was discussion of purpose at the bottom of the attacks, but no names were publicly mentioned. Applause followed each demonstration of confidence and finally Dr. Goodsell was called upon.

Did Not Seek the Office.

"I did not seek an election in the Episcopacy," he said. "I made no effort for it. The first intimation I had that my name was being put forward in candidacy was when I was informed by the 17 members of the California delegation that they were 'with me all the time.' I did not and do not seek the office, but I thank you for the expressions of regard which you have given me."

Immediately afterward a committee of seven members of the official board was appointed unanimously, and to them was left the preparation of a statement to be issued in behalf of the official board.

The committee in this statement, voicing the sentiments of the church and congregation, protests "against the injustice suffered by our pastor, Dr. Goodsell, on account of the inhuman methods employed in the general conference at Baltimore." The committee states that at the time of Dr. Goodsell's coming to Calvary church "it was fully understood by the official board, and many of the members of the church, that Dr. Goodsell had been compelled to obtain a divorce from his first wife. It was also fully known under what circumstances the cause of the action was laid, and the absolute and unqualified vindication of Dr. Goodsell in the matter."

Four Injured by Stories.

Baltimore, Md., May 25.—The Methodist Episcopal general conference now current will doubtless be long remembered for the number and peculiar character of the attacks that have been made upon candidates for the bishopric to be filled. Thus far four men have suffered more or less by reason of the circulation among the delegates of stories, some of them very vague and not all of them told with their proper and just explanations.

The most pronounced sufferer has been Rev. Dr. Charles L. Goodsell of Calvary church, New York. A plausible story that falsely represented Dr. William A. Quayle as having in his youth acted the part of a jilt apparently hurt him for a time, but the reaction brought by the statement of the truth has been markedly to his advantage. A similar result is probable in the case of Rev. Dr. Joseph Hingley, secretary of the conference, against whom a resident of the doctor's home city, Minneapolis, attempted to influence delegates—and succeeded for a time—by means of telegrams declaring that Minneapolis was astonished at the prominence given Dr. Hingley in the balloting. A fourth candidate who has been made the victim of a story partly told which, if told in full, could not possibly have influenced the vote of any sane man against him, is Rev. Dr. George P. Beckman, pastor of St. Paul's church, New York.

See Kodol Digest

Put any mixture of food in a test tube, under proper conditions, and one can see Kodol act. The food is digested at once, and completely. No other digester meets that test. Note our guarantee.

We guarantee the action of Kodol. Please note the effect below.
We claim that Kodol does all that a healthy stomach can do. That it digests any food, at once and completely.

Please prove this at our risk. Eat what you need of the food that you want, and note how Kodol acts. Note the absence of pain, of fermentation, of gas.

Don't doubt facts that mean a great deal to you, when they are easily proved.

There are many ways to digest part of the food, but Kodol alone digests all of it.

People digest albumen, but not starch or fat. So the many digestors depending almost solely on pepsin are only partial helps.

A complete digester must be a liquid, for some of the needed elements can't be given dry. They must be preserved in glass.

That is why Kodol is liquid, like the digestive juices. The result is, its action is instant. It even begins in the mouth, by starting the flow of saliva.

The cure of indigestion requires, above all, that you relieve the stomach.

Tonics and stimulants only spur it to action, like whipping a tired horse. Weak organs never gain strength by forcing.

But digestion is necessary, else the food grows hard and irritates the stomach lining. It ferments, and forms gas, and breeds germs. It decays, and loads the blood with poisons. And all the food that fails to digest fails to nourish you.

Your digestive powers are bound to grow weaker so long as these conditions continue.

SOLD BY J. P. BAKER AND OTHER DRUGGISTS.

A weak stomach must have rest. Treat it like a lame ankle. Don't tax it. Don't allow undigested food to disturb it. Let Kodol, for a little time, do the stomach's work. Then note how quickly nature cures, when it has the chance.

Some people try to relieve the stomach by dieting, but that means partial starvation.

The body requires variety in food, and when you limit that variety you are robbing some part. That isn't the way to gain strength.

A person who suffers from indigestion needs nourishment. Needs it more than a well person. The right way is to eat the food you need, then let Kodol digest it.

Please don't judge Kodol by any other form of digester. In Kodol alone are all the needed elements brought into combination. Nothing else does all that the healthy stomach will do. Nothing else brings complete relief.

Our Guarantee

The power of Kodol is easy to prove. Buy a large bottle, and ask for the signed guarantee. If it does all we claim, think what it means to you. If it doesn't, take the empty bottle back with the warrant, and your druggist will return your money.

This offer applies to the large bottle only, and to but one in a family. That is enough to prove. Then please tell your friends what a help you have found.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1.00 bottle contains 4 times as much as the 50c bottle.

The president paints a terrible picture of the demoralizing influence of the cotton wealth. He pictures the multi-millionaire who has grown rich by immoral means as the least admirable of all our citizens; a man of whom it has been well said, that his face has grown hard and cruel, while his body has grown soft; whose son is a fool and whose daughter a foreign princess; whose nominal pleasures are at best those of a tasteless and extravagant luxury; and whose real delight, whose real life work is the accumulation and use of power in its most selfish and least elevating form.

And who is this man whom the president pictures? He is the beneficiary of privilege, the child of favoritism in government. And how does he secure privilege and favoritism? By contributing campaign funds to the party which will sell him the right to exploit the country. Which party has been doing this? The republican party, whose leaders are now conspiring to prevent any remedial legislation. These same influences are seeking to dominate the democratic party, but they find the democratic masses incorruptible and therefore their effort is frustrated.

This extract from one of President Roosevelt's speeches, and the comment following is from Mr. Bryan in the last issue of his "Commoner." Conservative people have been censured for criticizing the president for some of his erratic statements, but from the manner in which Mr. Bryan handles them, no apology is needed.

Mr. Roosevelt was elected to the high office of president by the vote of the republican party. He is at the head of a republican administration. Yet so unwise in some of his impulsive utterances as to furnish a text for Mr. Bryan, the leader of modern democracy, to malign the party which has honored him.

The party in power is always held accountable for existing conditions in the business and financial world, and usually for losses which may occur through disaster of fire and flood and crop failure.

So the republican party today must answer for the prosperity panic which struck the country last fall, and whose effects are still apparent.

Mr. Bryan, through his paper, improves every opportunity to impress this fact, and has much to say about the tariff, the empty dinner pail, and general business stagnation, promising, of course, to remedy all these evils, as soon as elected and given the chance.

When the president harps on "predatory wealth," there is nothing political about it, until taken up by democracy, when the lack of wisdom displayed is plain to be seen.

Who is this man Bryan who seeks to become the nation's leader and dictator? He is the man who captured six million votes eight years ago on a free silver naphtha and dishonest dollar, and who today stands for free trade and government ownership of public utilities.

An honest man, but the most dangerous demagogue who ever stood so close to the front in the political history of the nation. What would he do in the White House? He would become a dictator in fact as well as in name, and the troublesome problem is, What wouldn't he do?

The nation has had a taste of presidential possibilities along this line and can not afford to experiment. The office carries with it almost unlimited authority.

President Roosevelt has accomplished much in the way of wholesome reform. He has led the nation up to a higher plane, and quickened sensibilities until the public conscience is alert and active, on many moral questions which have long been dormant. But he has also been impulsive and indiscreet. He has talked too much and written too many letters, to the embarrassment of his party. Mr. Bryan was not slow to discover the point of attack, and use it to the best advantage.

THE MONETARY SITUATION

"Once more we are having a very practical demonstration of the workings of our defective currency system. Within the short space of six months we have experienced such violent fluctuations in money rates as are witnessed in no other civilized country in the world. During the panic call loans rose as high as 100 per cent and over; since then they have fallen as low as 1 per cent and even lower.

"Time loans during the same period were quoted at 12 to 15 per cent for thirty and ninety days, and are now at 2 1/2 to 3 per cent for the same periods. Nowhere else can such wild fluctuations be discovered, and they must be attributed almost entirely to the want of elasticity in our currency system.

"When trade and speculation were active during 1907 there was a persistent cry for more money, the government and the national banks straining every resource to meet this demand. Then came the panic, and as the crisis subsided money quickly became a drug because there was no means of suitably reducing the supply.

"There was no adequate system for redemption of the superabundant mass of notes which had been put out to meet the demands of extraordinary speculative and business activity. Something should be done to impress upon the public mind the significant fact that the supply of all other conveniences contracts or expands in accordance with necessities except currency.

"Our currency system is unfortunately exceedingly rigid and we can increase its supply with much greater ease than we can reduce it; hence, in times of activity and low prices rates of interest fall to an abnormal low level, driving gold out of the country and fostering a wholesale inflation."

Henry Claws, the New York banker, thus sizes up the situation. Just why congress refuses to take some action on the currency question, is difficult to understand. While the nation may not run up against another money panic within a year, the trouble is liable to recur at any time, and the people look to their representatives to remedy the evil. They possess authority and are supposed to be equipped with intelligence to meet the situation.

THE TRANSPORTATION CHARGE

"The transportation charge on the material entering into a pair of shoes made in a St. Louis factory averages one and one-quarter cent. The transportation charge, to place that pair in the hands of a consumer in any part of the United States is about equal to the postage on an ordinary letter. An ordinary bed that retails at St. Louis at $8, for example, will have paid the railroads about 40 cents. From ten pounds of nails made in Pittsburg the railroads will have obtained a trifle over two cents, and from ten pounds of wire two and one-half cents. An ax made in the Pittsburg district that retails in St. Louis for $1 will have paid the railroad one and one-quarter cents. The freight on a dozen eggs for 1,000 miles is less than the postage of a letter, and a pound of Wisconsin butter may be sent to New England or New York for half the cost that the bill for it would go by mail. Poultry from Texas for less than a cent and a half a pound; beef from western ranges at less than a cent a pound."—From a lecture on "The Freight Rate Structure," by Logan G. McPherson, lecturer on transportation, at Johns Hopkins university.

LAUNCH CAPSIZED AT INDIAN FORD

Robert Scott and Son James Were Drawn Under the Dam by the Undertow and Had Narrow Escape.

Oscar Rowe's gasoline launch was overturned just below the Indian Ford dam last Saturday afternoon and its occupants, Robert W. Scott and his son, James Scott, were given a "ducking" and a bad scare. The youth was unable to swim and was rescued by means of ropes thrown by parties on the river bank. The launch had been brought around the dam via the Indian Ford Transportation Co.'s transfer line and Robert Scott was busy trying to start the engine when the undertow caught the boat and before anything could be done to stop its course it was up under the dam. In less than a minute it was under the dam and the launch was being tossed about in the swirling waters. After considerable difficulty the boat was also righted and gotten to the bank. The sailors sent to Janesville for a lively team and returned overland.

Condon of Oregon conferred the veil and conducted the ceremony. Rev. John Fitzgerald of Evanston preached an eloquent and appropriate sermon, into which he introduced the scripture story of Martha and her sister, Magdalene, dwelling on the words of Jesus: "Mary hath chosen the better part." He also dwelt on the words of mercy to which work the entire life of a Sister of Mercy is devoted. The ceremony was beautifully rendered by the convent choir composed entirely of the Sisters. Rev. Dean McMillen was present at the ceremony besides many other friends.

ANOTHER ST. PAUL BOX-CAR RANSACKED

By Tramps at the Transfer Yards and 21 Bottles of Beer Stolen.

At the C. M. & St. P. Ry. Co.'s transfer yards this morning the discovery was made that another box-car had been broken into and merchandise including 21 bottles of La Crosse beer carried away. A sack of potatoes had been dumped upon the floor and articles of wearing apparel from a box of clothing scattered broadcast. The detective who was to have arrived here Friday to investigate the ransacking of the car on the Chicago-Janesville freight failed to appear but the repetition of the crime will undoubtedly bring him here. Officer Fanning this morning drove a gang of about twenty tramps out of the North-Western yards. The St. Paul transfer station is located beyond the pale of police protection and it will be hard to stop this sort of work unless the company places a watchman there.

NEW LAW WHICH GOES INTO EFFECT IN JULY REQUIRES ONE YEAR'S RESIDENCE IN WISCONSIN.

Some question having arisen as to whether or not the ex-saloonkeepers of Rockford, who have been negotiating for some of the local stands, would be qualified to engage in business here, Judge Field this morning cited Section 1555, Chap. 188, of the laws of 1907, which reads as follows: "From and after the first Tuesday in July, 1908, no license to sell, deal, or traffic in malt, malted, sprituous, or intoxicating liquors shall be granted or issued to any person not a full citizen of the United States and of this state and a resident of the town, village, or city in which said license is applied for, nor shall any such license be granted or issued to any person who has been convicted of an offense against the laws of this state punishable by imprisonment in the state prison." The next section states that the law shall apply to all municipalities whether operating under the general law or special act. An citizenship in this state requires one year's residence. It will be seen that the Rockford men will either have to resort to the subterfuge of taking out the license under a resident's name, or stay away. Though the legislators failed to specifically mention Janesville in the act, City Attorney Maxfield holds that the law is binding here.

COMPLAINING JUNK MEN WERE THEMSELVES LIABLE

Licenses of Those Who Objected to Julius Rogers Conducting Plant Without Permit Had Expired.

When several junk dealers visited Chief of Police Appleby and complained that Julius Rogers was conducting an establishment at 301 Cherry street, without a license, the officer ordered an investigation and learned that the licenses of the complainants had expired some weeks ago and had not been renewed. The junk merchants pay $25 a year for each wagon they operate. This system is deemed unfair by some of them who maintain that one license for each firm, no matter how much enterprise it develops and business it transacts, should be sufficient. The latter have asked the aldermen to take some steps to amend the ordinance and those who are delinquent are doubtless awaiting the outcome of their petition.

In a communication to Chief of Police Appleby, the statement is made by Chief A. E. Hargren of Rockford that 12th Maywood and from Franklin, two wayward girls who formerly lived in Janesville and who were sent to a reformatory institution for girls, at Geneva, escaped from there on May 22. He asks the local department to keep a sharp lookout for them. Also, he asks for information concerning the whereabouts of an engineer named Foltz, whose son, Elmer Foltz, has been "hanging around Rockford for some time," and expresses a desire to get into communication with the said Foltz and "make him look after the lad."

can officers really doing the work were ranked by military poplajays from abroad and who held commissions direct from the king. That resignation October, 1784, was the first Declaration of Independence. Al G. Field has with his Greater Minstrel show this season a splendid series of stage pictures exemplifying the birth of the nation; at Myers theatre tonight.

Manager Sherman Brown of the Sherman-Brown Stock company, which comes from his triumphs at the Davidson theatre, Milwaukee, Wednesday night, May 27, for a stage performance of "The Glaciers" at the Myers theatre, has given the audience one of the most elaborate productions in this revival of the great psychological drama in which Minnie Maddern Fiske, scored her greatest success. One of the greatest scenes ever staged is the lettuce fields, showing the peasants at work in the rows of green vegetables, with the hot sun beating down pitilessly and the village lying in the distance, far away. The scene is the work of Charles Squires, the famous scenic artist, and was painted by him especially for the Davidson theatre production. The drama was produced under the direction of Francis Powers, author of "The First Horn" and one of the best known playwrights of the east. The play will be seen here for one night only.

THE GLACIER NATIONAL PARK.

Region in Northern Montana That is Continent's Great Watershed.

The melting rills from the enormous ice masses of what will soon be known as Glacier National Park help to feed all three of the oceans that wash the shores of North America, says a writer in the World's Work. It is possible to trace three ships from points yet to be named of each other in the park, which, with propitious currents, will eventually float, one into the Gulf of Mexico, the second into the Pacific and the third into Hudson bay. Here, amid the almost unexplored fastnesses of northern Montana, is where the waters of the continent divide—north by the Little Belly river and the Saskatchewan to the Arctic ocean; eastward, the Mackinac and Milk rivers take the waters of innumerable lakes into the Missouri and Mississippi, and westward glacier floods are poured into the Flathead, which, through Clark's Fork, finds its way to the Columbia and the Pacific. Glacier Park is the continent's great watershed.

British Eat Many Potatoes.

It is estimated that in the British Isles 6,000,000 tons of potatoes are produced annually on about 600,000 acres, giving an average of ten tons to the acre, but a very large quantity of potatoes comes from abroad, so that the annual consumption is much larger than these figures would indicate.

Was Not to Be Deceived.

Mrs. Murray Keith, a venerable Scotch lady, from whom Sir Walter Scott derived many of the traditional stories and anecdotes wrought up in his Waverley novels, taxed him one day with the authorship, which he as usual stoutly denied. "What," exclaimed the old lady, "do you think I donna ken my ain goats among other folk's kail?"

RHEUMATISM CAN NOT BE RUBBED AWAY

Rubbing with liniments, blistering the affected parts, the application of plasters, and other means of external treatment, are usually helpful in relieving the pains and aches of Rheumatism, but such remedies do not reach the CAUSE of the disease, and are therefore in no sense curative. Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid in the blood, brought about by indigestion, poor bowel action, weak kidneys, and a general sluggish condition of the system. The circulation deposits this irritating poison in the different muscles, nerves, tissues and joints of the body, and soon the painful symptoms of Rheumatism are produced. The pains at first may be wandering and slight; but as the blood becomes more fully saturated with the uric acid poison, the disease grows worse and after awhile gets to be chronic. The slight, wandering pains now become sharp and cutting at the least exposure to dampness or night air, or any constitutional irregularity, the bones ache, the muscles are not as free in action as before, and where the acid poison is allowed to remain in the blood the joints often become so clogged with corrosive substances that they are left permanently stiff and useless. Rheumatism can never be rubbed away, nor can it be conquered and driven from the system until the acid-laden blood has been cleansed and purified. No other medicine does this so effectively as S. S. S. It dissolves and removes the impurities and sends a stream of rich, strong blood to the affected parts, which soothes the irritated nerves, inflamed muscles and flesh, and the sufferer obtains relief that is permanent because the real cause of the disease has been removed. Sophy of Kravonia

by ANTHONY HOPE

Author of "The Prisoner of Zenda"

Copyright, 1903, Anthony Hope Hawkins

In vain will the readers of this tale of romantic love and brilliant during search the maps of the world for the picturesque land of Kravonia, wherein lovely, fascinating Sophy and her mysterious Red Star played their parts. This much we may tell him before he embarks on his voyage to Kravonia. But we may assure him that when he reluctantly parts with Sophy, some-time scullery maid of Morpington, Essex, England, later spiritualistic medium of Paris, France, and still later of high rank in Slavonia and Volseni, in Kravonia, the country of her adoption will be to him, like Zenda and Granzark, more real than any of the smaller, actual kingdoms of the earth. Sad and tragic in some of its aspects is the love story of Sophy of Kravonia, but its path is so lightened by devoted loyalty, hardy bravery and tender, self-sacrificing affection that at the end the reader will surely feel its telling has not been unworthy of the master hand of its famous chronicler.

Among the great "inflections" over the heads, Enoch tried to move the bough, but failed. In order to make another effort he fell on his knees and bent his back over it.

At this moment there came a loud crash, heard in the rectory grounds and in the dining room at Woodbine cottage, the small house opposite.

"There's another life!" cried Basil Williamson, the rector's second son, who was giving his retriever an evening run.

He raced through the rectory gate, across the road and into the avenue. A second later the garden gate of Woodbine cottage opened and Julia, the ten-year-old daughter of a widow named Robins, who lived there, came out at full speed. Seeing Basil just ahead of her, she called out, "Did you hear?"

He knew her voice—they were playmates—and answered without looking back: "Yes, I saw it! Keep out! Keep out! Keep out!"

"What?" she shouted, laughing. "They don't fall every minute, silly!"

Running as they exchanged these words, they soon came to where the bough, or rather, the two boughs, had fallen. A fragile sight met their eyes. The second bough had caught the unlucky farmer just on the nose of his neck and had driven him down, face forward, on to the first. He lay with his neck close plumed between the two and his arms spread out over the undermost. His face was bad to look at. He was quite dead, and apparently death must have been instantaneous. Sobored and appalled, the boy and girl stood looking from the terrible sight to each other's faces.

"Is he dead?" Julia whispered.

"I expect so," the boy answered. Neither of them had seen death before. The next moment he raised his voice and shouted, "Help, help!" then laid hold of the upper bough and strove with all his might to raise it.

"The girl gave a shriller cry for assistance and then lent a hand to his efforts, but between them they could not move the great log.

Up to now neither of them had perceived Sophy.

Next on the scene was Mr. Brownlow, the master of the hall. He had been in his greenhouse and heard the crash of the bough. Of that he took no heed. Nothing could be done save to have a sign over the damage to his cherished elm. But when the cries for help reached his ears, with promptness he rushed out straight across his lawn and, though he was elderly and stout, dropped into the ditch, clambered over it and came where the dead man and the children were. As he passed the drawing room window he called out to his wife, "Somebody's hurt, I'm afraid!"

And she, after a moment's conference with the butler, followed her husband; but not being able to manage the ditch, went around by the road and up the avenue, the servant coming with her. When these two arrived the square's help had availed to release the farmer from the deadly grip of the two boughs, and he lay now on his back on the path.

"He's dead, poor fellow," said Mr. Brownlow.

"It's Enoch Grouch," said the butler, giving a shudder as he looked at the farmer's face. Julia Robins sobbed, and the boy Basil looked up at the square's face with grave eyes.

"I'll get a bundle, sir," said the butler. His master nodded, and he ran off.

Something moved on the path about a yard from the thick end of the lower bough.

"Look there!" cried Julia Robins. A little way followed. With an exclamation Mrs. Brownlow darted to the spot. The child lay there with a cut on her forehead. Apparently the impact of the second bough had caused the end of the first to fly upward. Sophy had been jerked from her seat into the air and had fallen back on the path, striking her head on a stone. Mrs. Brownlow picked her up, wiped the blood from her brow and saw that the injury was slight. Sophy began to cry softly, and Mrs. Brownlow soothed her.

"It's the little girl," said Julia Robins. "The little girl with the mark on her cheek, please, Mrs. Brownlow."

"Poor little thing! Poor little thing!" Mrs. Brownlow murmured. She knew that death had robbed the child of her only relative and protector.

The butler now came back with a hurdle and two men, and Enoch Grouch's body was taken into the saddle room at the hall. Mrs. Brownlow followed the procession. Sophy still in her arms. At the end of the avenue she spoke to the boy and girl:

"Go home, Basil. Tell your father, and ask him to come to the hall. Good night, Julia. Tell your mother, and don't cry any more. The poor man is with God, and I shall let this mite come to harm." She was a childless woman, with a motherly heart, and as she spoke she kissed Sophy's wounded forehead. Then she went into the hall grounds, and the boy and girl were left together on the road. Basil shook his fist at the avenue of elms, his favorite playground.

"I'm going to cut them all down if I was Mr. Brownlow!"

"I must go and tell mother," said Julia, "and you'd better go too."

"Yes," she assented, but lingered for a moment, still looking at the trees as though reluctantly fascinated by them.

"Mother always said something would happen to that little girl," said Julia, with a grave and important look in her eyes.

"Why?" the boy asked brusquely.

"Because of that mark—that mark she's got on her cheek."

"What mark?" he said, but he looked at his companion uneasily. The event of the evening had stirred the superstitious fears, seldom hard to stir in children.

"People don't have those marks for nothing—no mother says. Other people, no wiser, said the same thing later."

"I'll tell you," said the boy, "Oh, well, I must go."

She glanced at him thoughtfully. "Just come as far as our door with me, I'm afraid."

"Afraid?" he said scornfully. "All right!"

He walked with her to the door of Woodbine cottage and waited till it closed behind her, performing the escort with a bold and lordly air. Left alone in the fast darkening night, with nobody in sight, with no sound save the ceaseless voice of the angry wind essaying now and then to break through the elm trees, he stood for a moment, listening fearfully.

Then he laid his sturdy legs to the ground and fled for home, looking neither to right nor left till he reached the hospitable light of his father's study. The lad had been brave in face of the visible horror. Fear struck him in the moment of Julia's talk about the mark on the child's cheek. Scornful and furious at himself, yet he was mysteriously afraid.

"The Quintessence of It." "The gall of that fellow Stryker!" "What's he done now?"

"Why, you know he's a chronic rowver, and when I told him I'd have to stop loaning him money now that I had a wife, he went for me hammer and tongs for getting married at his expense."

Cranberry as Barometer. A curious barometer is used by the remnant of the Araucanian race, which inhabits the southernmost province of Chile. It consists of the cast-off shell of a crab. The dead shell is white in fair, dry weather, but the approach of a moist atmosphere is indicated by the appearance of small red spots. As the moisture in the air increases and finally, the shell becomes entirely red.

In a certain part of China there is kept a little idol shaped like a child. Whenever a baby is suffering from indigestion, or some other ailment, the mother climbs up the hill to the hut where the idol is kept, rubs the idol and prays over it for her baby's recovery. So many hands have rubbed the little image that the outside is worn quite smooth.

CONGRESS WANTS TO ADJOURN.

Will Devote Time to Completing Work Already Begun.

Washington, May 25.—Both the senate and the house will devote their best efforts to so shaping their affairs as to bring about an adjournment at the earliest time possible during the present week, and as a consequence whatever is done will be in the nature of completing work already begun.

Most of the time, if not all of it, will be given to the consideration of the reports of conference committees dealing with points of difference between the two houses in measures which have been passed by both. Even those will be confined largely to appropriation bills. All the supply measures have received attention from both houses, but there are still points of difference in connection with some of them, and especial effort will be made to compromise them. As soon as they are adjusted the session will come to an end.

The general deficiency bill will be held back until the last moment in order to use it as a vehicle for the appropriation of money to carry into effect the provisions of the omnibus public buildings bill. Final adjournment will probably take place Thursday.

Bandits Rob Interurban Car.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 25.—Not until fled with the $125 in cash and two watches secured from the conductor motorman and nine passengers on a car of the West Penn Electric railway near Boston, a small town between McKeesport and Pittsburgh, which they held up early Sunday morning, two masked highwaymen, a short distance from the robbery, halted John Mowry, a farmer, and his wife and relieved them of $15.

The Curtain Department

(SOUTH STORE.)

Saturday night looked as if a cyclone had struck it after one of the largest days ever recorded. Never an opportunity like this to make liberal savings right in the heart of the season. Do not be alarmed if you are little late in coming. We have enough of the good things to last for days to come. Remember every curtain in stock, including lace, madras, portieres and robes are on sale at a great reduction from regular prices. The odd lots consisting of 1, 1 1/2 and 2 pairs are being eagerly picked up. The prices are making quick work of them.

Curtain Muslins and Curtain Nets.—We have quite a large accumulation of these in short ends which we are selling at one-half price.

The great 800 pair lot which we bought much under price are melting away. Any woman at all interested can readily see that these are exceptional bargains and not an every-day occurrence. Among them are Nottinghams and Cable Nets, curtains that were $1.25 and $1.35, at 98c pair. $1.75 Curtains$1.19

We are not making a lot of overdrawn statements. We can prove to you that the values are just what we say they are. We think it a wise business policy to reduce our stock. The sale continues until June 6th.
